OncoloMed

■ WELCOME TO ONCOLOMED

We believe that everyone should have access to the best cancer treatments available. However, it is impossible to find them all under one roof. This is why we have a trusted network of specialists who represents some of the most advanced cancer treatments worldwide.

We are a Norwegian medical facilitator dedicated to cancer diagnostics & treatments. We assist you in your search for the best treatment options for your cancer.

We can provide you with a fast second opinion and advice on possible alternative treatment options that might be available for you.

We have an established, wide-ranging network of hospitals, clinics and specialists across the world.

While we are the first to emphasize that there is no miracle cure for cancer, we also know that no hospital in the world can house under one roof the whole range of medical disciplines, experts and special procedures needed to fight cancer.

Our mission is to bring together leading institutions and specialists from across the world to provide you with some of the best treatment options available - at home or abroad.

OncoloMed is a virtual cancer treatment facilitator that has been working with cancer patients since 2010. We have delivered innovative cancer treatments, exceptional patient care, and a unique, individual patient experience, helping many patients get their life back after a severe cancer diagnosis.

We support patients, and we strive to ensure continual patient support before, during and after their cancer treatment at their chosen clinic.

■ ABOUT US

Oncolomed is a virtual cancer treatment facilitator that has been working with cancer patients since 2010.

We have delivered innovative cancer treatments, exceptional patient care, and a unique, individual patient experience, helping many patients get their life back after a severe cancer diagnosis.

The Services We Offer

OncoloMed provides advice and support to the many individuals who suffer from cancer. If you would like to seek a second opinion and/or explore treatment options at some of the world's leading cancer centres, we can help.

Our services mainly target treatments that are either not yet available in your home country, who are not considered "mainstream" treatment, or who might be available elsewhere at a lower cost.

Or it may just be that you just want to be treated by some of the world's leading specialists in the type of cancer you have, and where we can help you make prepare the documentation needed and make the contact towards them on your behalf.

■ SECOND OPINIONS & DIAGNOSTICS

Overview of some of the services we offer:

2nd Opinion

Using our state-of-the-art technical platform, we can send your medical records and scans to clinics within minutes. Our partners can further, based on your written consent, get former biopsy samples to help generate a genetic map on the path to find the best personal treatment for you, based on the belief that the better the diagnosis, the better hope for a successful treatment plan.

The more information, such as medical journals, Epicrisis, biopsy reports, radiology reports and CT / MR / PET images, . - the better the assessment will be.

Genetic testing and interpretation

It is common knowledge that detecting and treating cancer at an early stage can save lives. The same is true for establishing all the facts once your cancer has been diagnosed. By pro-actively seeking a second opinion, you and your loved ones can find out more about your cancer and all the treatment options available to you.

We recognize the need for faster, more precise diagnostics. Cancer is like fingerprints; every patient's disease is unique, and no cancer is the same. As treatment options for cancer increases, so does the need to understand your cancer quickly and accurately.

Genes are the building blocks that make cancer unique. Analysing the genetics of each patient's cancer cells can open the door to powerful targeted therapies. We have great focus on the implementation of genetic testing methods (there are various, depending on the cancer and patients' specifics), in order to uncover which treatment can have the greatest effect for the individual patient.

Immunotherapy, cancer vaccine, virotherapy and CAR-T cell treatment etc.

Through our specialists we offer a wide range of immunotherapy, cancer vaccines and virotherapy, either based on the above genetic tests, or based on the initial 2nd opinion. Furthermore, Car-T cell treatment, by many defined as the optimal cancer treatment right now, for those who are candidates for this treatment.

Cancer vaccines can be a vital part of an existing treatment course (at home or abroad) but could also help prevent relapse for patients who have had successful treatment before and who want to do whatever possible to avoid future relapse, if possible.

Professional competence

We are working with leading oncologists and researchers, all of whom use their knowledge and experience to keep up to date on the latest research in clinical oncology. This allows us to explore the severity of each patient's cancer and hopefully find new solutions that others may not have been assessed before, by our researchers and clinicians working together.

Technology

We are a technology-driven company, which means we have tools that can speed up the process of getting, and most importantly, sending patient information to various clinics around the world, all based on privacy and patient legislations in the different regions.

Full attention

Our time is for the patient. It is important to us that every patient feel to be in control of their own diagnosis and alternative treatment options out there. Although OncoloMed never provides medical advice, we follow the patients along the way, and we can even fly leading oncologists from abroad to your country for initial consultations, for those patients who prefers this or who do not have the opportunity to travel abroad due to their deteriorating condition.

■ NETWORK

OncoloMed prioritizes research presentations, publication history and clinical data to help our customers choose among some of the best available oncologists and clinics worldwide.

Having professional relationships with a number of leading cancer treatment centres enables us to develop strategies that often provide faster access to potentially life-saving cancer treatments.

At the same time, it is important that the patients understands that some of these treatments will always be considered experimental, until they are acknowledged mainstream, but history have thought us that there at all times are new options entering the treatment scene - always theoretically better than the previous ones.

The main challenge is always to try to decide which one that can be most beneficial for each patient.

The challenges involved with any cancer treatment is very well described in this video, taken from a seminar in London 2018, called "The Future of Cancer Treatment" by Prof. Justin Stebbing (whom we work very close with) and Prof. Siddhartha Mukherjee, both leading oncologists in the world of cancer (click photo to access the video online).

Clinical Studies

We can assist you to search for clinical studies all over the world, but this is an extensive work and as a rule will also require various tests/updated information to assess whether the patient is a candidate or not. This task will in general be a supplement to the 2nd opinion and charged on an hourly fee.

Although there may be thousands of clinical trials out there, only a handful may be suitable for each patient's specific cancer. What we normally will do is to create a team of specialists who can assist us and to propose the studies that meet the individual patient's criteria. OncoloMed will be a facilitator between patient and clinicians and guide them through the process of searching.

We always put our patients first and offer unparalleled assistance in helping you to either get well or to live the best way possible with cancer. If you decide to travel for treatment, you can rest assured that we have helped you choose from some of the most experienced and reputable treatment centres. You can also be confident that you are in the care of professionals who understand how difficult it is to be away from home, and how important it is that you feel welcome and comfortable during your treatment.

We believe that a personalized approach will result in the best treatment, the fastest return to health, the least complications and, therefore, the lowest cost.

We help you access the most advanced technologies and cutting-edge treatments for cancer but at the same time it is important to be aware of the fact that we, like any other who are working with cancer, cannot guarantee a positive result after your cancer treatment or any guarantee that the cancer does not come back after an initial successful treatment.

Clinics / Hospitals

We are constantly seeking the best possible clinics for each patient but have at the same time established close cooperation with specific clinics. We know what these are capable of, based on patient's experience - and they are representing treatment methods that go beyond traditional palliative treatment.

It is common knowledge that detecting and treating cancer at an early stage can save lives. The same is true for establishing all the facts once your cancer has been diagnosed. By proactively seeking a second opinion, you and your loved ones can find out more about your cancer and all the treatment options available to you.
